

STATEMENT FROM THE LORD PROTECTOR & COUNCIL OF STATE

The Council of State intercepted an attack on the state initiated by the head of state himself. The plot is ridiculous, and it is the product of the King's lack of reality awareness.

“After days of deliberation the only viable course of action is now a coup d'état - action that will restore the status quo, restore democracy and restore the United Kingdom to a constitutional monarchy with elected governance.” - King George II

A non-elected official is discussing democracy, ironic. The Protectorate was established following a democratic vote in which the majority showed approval for the concept, as depicted in the image below.

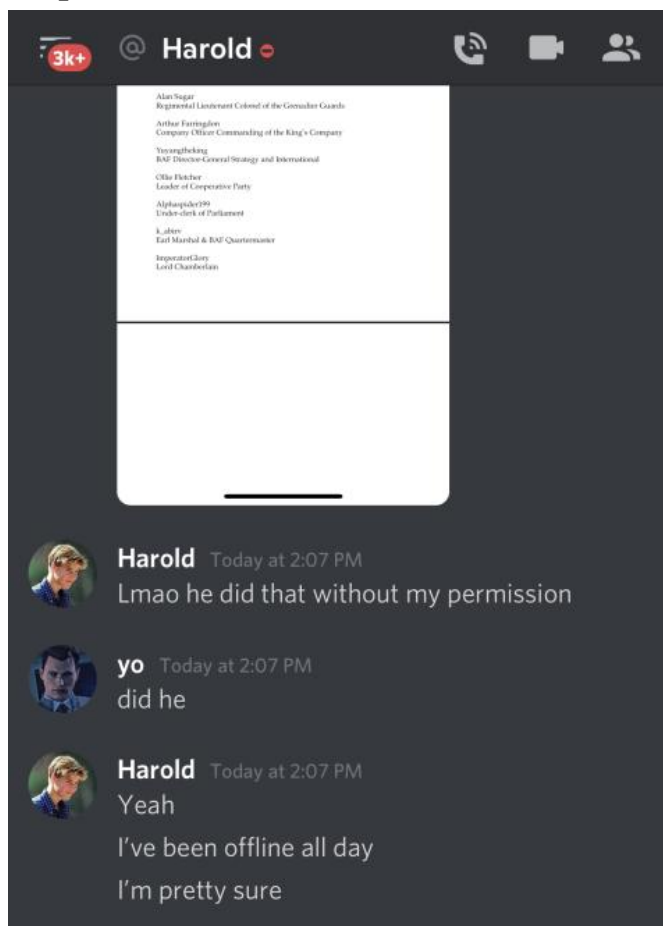

Additionally, it is a temporary solution, lasting only one week, to correct what the elected administrations, to which the King refers, have wrecked. The UK has been stuck for far too long; there was no ZUK legislation in place, and all of the legislative proposals were poorly written. The Council of State has been working relentlessly to tackle the challenges, and this is how the nepotistic King and his aristocratic pals thank the people. He has no regard for the public interest; he desires for the British people to suffer from incompetence. The Council of State is providing an example of effective governance by selecting individuals who prioritise the group over themselves. The King is doing the exact opposite, demonstrating that he is exclusively concerned with himself.

STATEMENT FROM THE LORD PROTECTOR & COUNCIL OF STATE

At the time, the Council of State will simply transmit a message. Unlike the King, we do not intend to further stall the country. The King desires to stage a coup in order to reclaim his authority, at the expense of the stability we have brought to the country. This, Britons, should demonstrate the type of King you have: one who has no regard for your wishes and who prioritises his own.

The Council of State did not intend to include the King in its business out of good faith, in order to avoid creating the erroneous impression that the King is associated with an absolute government, something the King appears to be incapable of comprehending.

The King has even went on to forge signatures in order to gain support for his coup d'etat:

The ball is now in your court, Britons; will you support a King who has no regard for the state or future of the group, preferring instead to think in the short term by putting his own needs first, or will you recognise the need for a government composed of people who prioritise the country, exercising both executive and legislative authority, in order for this nation to finally improve politically?

SIGNED (by group members, from all backgrounds, who were the victims of a terrible governance and who understand the importance of the council of state) :

Zeus Richford

LORD PROTECTOR (previously and in 1 week, a simple citizen)

"I have always acted in ZUK's collective and best interests. Taking on this responsibility provided no advantage to me, as it increased the amount of stress I already face on a daily basis, but I did it for the people, who need betterment. I am truly disappointed in the King and have lost all faith in him; he is, like the previous governments' officials, an individual who puts his own interests first."

Kacey Montagu

COUNCILLOR OF STATE FOR FOREIGN AFFAIRS

"The previous Government caused havoc to our International Community. The Council of State has allowed for fast paced decisions and must continue to ensure stability till the next General Election. It must be remembered that the British people approved of the Council of State."

COUNCILLOR OF STATE FOR JUSTICE

"This new system of governance brings me no joy to be a part of, but in recent governments the quality of governance has been lackluster, and frankly nothing of consequence has come from most of them. It has now become incumbent for better minds, free of political influence and participating solely for the greater good of the group to step in. Our goal as the Council of State is to accomplish this exact goal. We will leave a suitable foundation, through our work, which will allow future governments to work as they should - with competence and quality."

COUNCILLOR OF STATE FOR DEFENCE & CHIEF OF GENERAL STAFF

"As Chief of the General Staff, I support the formation of the Council of State. I agreed to take on the position of councillor of state because I am fed up with incompetent governments failing to provide adequate support to the armed forces. What the King is attempting to accomplish demonstrates nothing more than his contempt for the average public. The King is a selfish and self-centered individual, and I am deeply embarrassed to be working under such a monarch."

COUNCILLOR OF STATE FOR THE TREASURY

"This new Government is not what we wanted, certainly not what all of you want, but it is what the group needs. The Monarchs actions here blatantly spits in democracies face, the people voted for what we have today, the fact his actions are trying to rip this administration apart haunt me."

“This marks a new era, an era that pushes toward a better future for this glorious group. Anyone who hinders progress should be valued as nothing less than a traitor, all we are doing as a group is trying to secure stability within the group. It is sad to see the King would rather protect his own selfish interests over working with us toward a greater goal. Now we shall see who really supports progress and who doesn't.”

“I pledged an oath to serve the King, but he is now forcing me to have second thoughts about my decision. The Council of State is governed by capable persons who are acting in our best interests, rather than their own self-interests. If the king decides to proceed with a coup, it demonstrates nothing other than his disregard for the wishes of the general public and his disregard for the law.”

“This new regime is what we needed to fix the endless cycle of broken governments. I am in the hope that this petition will avoid any further disputes or divisions within the group. ZUK has a lot of potential, and we need to ensure that there are no more mistakes that will ruin us. I also am in good faith that we have competent parties for the elections to come.”

STATEMENT FROM THE LORD PROTECTOR & COUNCIL OF STATE

The intercepted plot:

BUCKINGHAM PALACE

The United Kingdom is bound by the fundamental pillars of democracy, decency and tradition. Our constitution is resolute and tested, built up over centuries of tweaks, tinkers through correct political dialogue. This is the United Kingdom renowned around the world, this is what we have lost.

This protectorate government has broken the status quo and has damaged the reputation and standing of our great nation to an intolerable level. In 24 hours, the very stability of our country has been brought to breaking point by this tyrannical ruling protectorate. Under their rule the need for democratically elected politicians has vanished - the idea of dignity with it. Britons deserve better than this, we deserve for our cherished institutions to be restored.

Throughout my reign I have remained impartial on all matters regarding politics. However, when the British way of life is challenged, when our institutions are challenged, I believe that as sovereign I must stand up and signal the way. This is not right.

After days of deliberation the only viable course of action is now a coup d'état - action that will restore the status quo, restore democracy and restore the United Kingdom to a constitutional monarchy with elected governance.
